

Holistic Management International

Special Announcement

Join HMI in Helping Farmers & Ranchers

The earth, and the food it provides us are precious resources. At HMI we know this and that's why we are dedicated to training farmers and ranchers on sustainable farming practices. Practices that benefit land and people for generations to come.

When you support HMI, your contribution will be used to support our programs for both beginning and more experienced farmers and ranchers. These programs have, and will continue to make a difference in the lives and communities of the people we serve.

But don't just listen to us. Watch these short videos of farmers who've benefited from our Future Farms program. Their accomplishments demonstrate the impact your contribution can make.

The ripple effect of one producer building a sustainable business impacts us all

At HMI results matter and we are measuring our effectiveness like never before. This means you can be assured your contribution will truly make a difference. Here are just a few results producers have achieved through various HMI programs.

- 25% increase in net profit
- 40% decrease in labor costs
- 29% decrease in fertilizer & chemical costs
- 29% decrease in fuel costs
- 72% increase in the number of wildlife
- 86% increase in personal happiness and job pleasure
- 80% increase in pounds of beef produced per acre

With your help, HMI can train more farmers to grow food in a sustainable manner. Please join our community of change today by making a contribution.

